HOW TO NAVIGATE

- You are able to use the filter button to filter by all fields. Generally you filter by either MCL PO# (this is our PO# that we used to our vendor to order the boards, or the customer PO# that the customer used to order the boards from MCL.
- Once you have what you are looking for, you can utilize the info to better help your customer.
- The WIP information should only be shared internally.

WIP TERMS

- MCL Required Date – this is the date we give our vendor to have the order to MCL by
- Vendor Confirmed Ship Date – this date is the date the vendor gives MCL to acknowledge they received our order (generally this is set 2 days before the MCL Required Dock Date – (this is not the date that the order shipped- this is a common misconception)
- Vendor Ship Date – this is the date that the orders have physically shipped from the vendor to MCL
- EQ Approved Date – this is used for all new orders to track what date the EQ was approved. And order can not start production until the EQ's are approved. Day 1 of production would start the day after the EQ approval date
- End Customer Required Date – This is the date that we acknowledged to the customer they would have on their dock
- MCL Notes – We keep vendor lead time in the notes (8WDS), we keep any special notes about the order, could be shipping method, it could be a different ship address, if an order was pushed out by the vendor we keep track of the original date (vendor & customer) and the amount of times it was pushed.
